I tried to get a basic form from you on my contact page, but I think I missed something. Can you look at the page and see if I screwed something up? <http://www.ideafarmstudio.com/contact.html> Thanks, Dan

Hello,

Well, I can't see how can you call contact.html? There isn't that file in our script. You should upload all files within contact folder including templates folder from archive you have downloaded from our web site. After that just call contact.php and everything should work.

Can you send me more detailed instructions? I don't understand what "call" means. I had to make my own contact.html using your contact.php, otherwise, it would be just a box with fields. Please help! I'm desperate to get this working!

Thanks so much!

Dan

Hello,

Call means open it with web browser. On most servers web server won't process php code inside .html files so you have to name it contact.php and you can customize output of whole script by editing files in templates folder.

Or, you can make your own contactus.php and where you want our script to appear (fields for contact) put this code:

<?php include "./contact.php"; ?>

...and then rename templates/contact.tpl.html to templates/contactus.tpl.html (file name of template file has to be same as your own file name [look above: you have "contactus.php", so template is "contactus.tpl.html"]). Then you'll have our script, with our form elements included in your own template and fully functional.

Hi, I still don't understand, is there a support or tutorial page giving specific instructions on how to do this. I don't not know PHP or any other programming, and I need this to work ASAP! I need help with this desperately!

Thanks,

Dan

Hi,

Well, I don't know how to help you anymore. There isn't any tutorial page because this is considered to be really simple script. Have you tried to do what I've said to you? What's the problem with that?

Regards,

Nemanja

what files do I put in where? What files do I customize? What files do I need to upload to the server and where? your readme file was way too vague for non PHP people. I have never touched a script in my life! I can't follow your directions because I don't not know where to begin or how to customize it, everything!

Thanks

Upload all files, these in root of your web site:

contact-send.gif

contact.php

contact_sent.php

contact_settings.php

TemplateMailer.class.php

And these in "templates" folder:

templates/contact.tpl.html

templates/contact_error.tpl.html

templates/contact_mail.tpl.html

templates/contact_sent.tpl.html

Then, make your own contactus.php, with your own design. It can be plain HTML, the extension have to be PHP but you can put plain HTML inside it. For Example just rename <http://www.ideafarmstudio.com/contact.html> to <http://www.ideafarmstudio.com/contactus.php>

In <http://www.ideafarmstudio.com/contactus.php> delete whole <form action... to </form> including everything between these two tags.

Instead of that (what you've removed) put this: <?php include "./contact.php"; ?>

And then, rename templates/contact.tpl.html to templates/contactus.tpl.html

Then open contact_settings.php and set it up (will explain it in next email if you need help on that).

And finally, open your web browser and navigate to <http://www.ideafarmstudio.com/contactus.php>

Hope this helps,

Nemanja

You're welcome. I am glad that I can help you. I'm busy with other projects so I don't have time to explain this in readme file, but I will do it sometimes... I guess :)

Nemanja

Have you renamed templates/contact.tpl.html to templates/contactus.tpl.html

... hm, there it is, in <http://ideafarmstudio.com/templates/> I can see it there... but when I take a look at source of contactus.php I can see `<?php include "./contact.php"; ?>` but I, as web site visitor, should not see that. Can you send me your contactus.php file to this email?

Regards,
Nemanja
